

Price List For Email Server And Email Archive Accounts, valid from 21st January, 2010

The Different Offers

There are different feature sets for email accounts. The following paragraphs describe each of them.

Basic Email: Email Accounts Featuring POP3, IMAP4, Webmail

These Email-Accounts can be used via POP3 and IMAP4 and additionally via webmail.

Without additional costs transport layer encryption is offered (IMAPS, POP3S, SMTPS, HTTPS). Access to the log files of the mail servers will be available in Q4/2010 – then each email can be tracked in real time.

Groupware: Email Accounts Featuring POP/IMAP, Webmail, Groupware And PDA Synchronization

Groupware accounts can be accessed like Basic Email accounts. Additionally groupware features are integrated (calendar, to do lists, address books).

All these data types can be synchronized with most PDAs (iPhone, Blackberry, Symbian, Windows Mobile).

Email Archive

The genioDATA Email Archive complies to legislative requirements (secure, fraud safe, complete) and it serves as central email archive for the customer's employees who – according to their individual rights – access it.

It is fast (indexing in real time, handy web interface) and offers access to all (meta) data of an email in the search interface. The user can have the archive send found emails to his or her work account.

Prices

The following table lists the monthly and setup costs for email server and email archive operation depending on the number of users and the selected offer.

Different offers can be combined, domains can be split (e.g. mike@company.com can have a Groupware account and sven@company.com a Basic Email account).

Additional Information

All prices are exclusive VAT. Payment is due on the 1st of each month. Customers with less than 10 accounts pay quarterly.

Setup time is just a few days depending on the number of accounts. If an email archive is booked without email accounts, a planning phase is worked through first; this is included in the setup fee.

* Archiving in a separate archive starts from € 175 plus VAT monthly; that is the price of 25 Users. All others are setup in collect archives.
